

Hi Ladies,

I am sorry that I missed you this morning. I wanted to pass a little story along that happened to me recently.

I was going into a room to begin admitting an elderly pt when I overheard the adult daughter on the phone. She was telling her brother that when they arrived in the room, we welcomed them with two vases of fresh flowers!

Please know that our families and staff so very much appreciate your help. It makes a tremendous difference. What a beautiful reminder of the good things in life and what a perfect place for God's handiwork to be displayed!

Thanks for all you do,
